"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband, reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before

I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."

availed them nothing. War is now in active progress on the island, and only yesterday the prospect of success this magnificent state of affairs:

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The sentiment for Cuban independence is growing.

and informs Mayor Swift that a com-

Concerning Electric Lights.
As the question of reducing the rate on domestic lights in this city has been agitated recently, we publish the following schedule of rates charged in Niles, Michigan, a city about the size of Brainerd, which owns and operates its own electric light plant. These rates are exceedingly low, but they are stated to be sufficient to pay all operating expenses, and interest on bonds issued to build the plant. The rates are:

10-50 p. m.
Arc Lights, 2000 candle power. $ 5.00
do 1500 do 4.00
do 1000 do 3.00
do 500 do 2.00
do 250 do 1.50
do 100 do 1.00
do 50 do .75
do 25 do .50
do 10 do .30
do 5 do .20
do 2 do .10
do 1 do .05

The above lamps are incandescent.
Residence lights for dining room, kitchen, sitting room and parlor, are supplied at 20 cents per month; all other lights 15 cents per month.
The meter rates are 5¢ per lamp hour, the consumer to pay for all wiring, meter, etc., as well as for all renewals.

School Lands of Minnesota.
The state of Minnesota has some 220,000 acres of school lands coming to it from the general government, and State Auditor Dunn is preparing to make selections for the same as soon as possible, says the St. Cloud Journal-Press. A list of the number of acres due the state from the various districts has been prepared and selections will soon be made. Before the lands were surveyed many portions of school sections had been settled upon by the homesteaders, and other tracts contain lakes or are defective in other respects, and the state is entitled to indemnity lands in place of these wherever they can be found. There are still 220 unsurveyed townships in the state and these will be made to contribute their share of land as soon as they are thrown open to settlement.
The original grant to the state comprised 400,000 acres, of which 155,000 have been settled and approved, and selections amounting to 32,000 acres are still pending. Of the 220,000 acres unsurveyed, 14,000 are in the Marshall district, where but little, if any, land can be selected, 100,000 in the Crook-ston district, 65,000 in the St. Cloud district, and 45,000 in the Duluth district. O. B. Garrison is in charge of a party looking up the indemnity lands in Cass county.

A Splendid Company.

The Ida Van Cortland Dramatic
Co. have occupied the boards at the Sleeper Opera House this week, and have been playing to fairly good houses. This is unquestionably the best repertoire company that has ever appeared in this city. Miss Van Cortland being an actress of unusual merit, and she is ably assisted by J. Butler, the leading man, and the rest of the company. To-night the company appear in Daunt and Pythias, and to-morrow night "Ingomar" will be the bill. These are both exceptionally strong pieces, and will be presented by the Van Co. with their usual care and ability.

Y. M. C. A. Anniversary.

The anniversary meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held at the opera house last Sunday evening, which was largely attended. No services were held in several of the churches in order to give their members an opportunity to attend the anniversary meeting. The following programme was observed:

Song service.
Male Chorus.
Scripture Lesson, by Rev. Stapt.
Prayer, by Rev. Travis.
Star (Ladies) Quartette.
Annual Report, by Secretary Synder Treasurer J. M. Hayes.
Banner Quartette.
Anniversary address, by G. W.
Lewis, of St. Paul.

Male Chorus.
Closing Prayer, by Rev. McKay.
Short talks and speeches were also made by State Secretary Francis, Secretary Snyder, and the retiring president J. C. Small, and Frank A.
White, the newly elected executive.
It was a very interesting and instructive meeting.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Wm. Lanktree will conduct the 4 o'clock meeting next Sunday.

The secretary's report for the 10 months from Dec. 31st, '94, to Oct.
1st, 1895, shows: Present membership,
118. Average attendance at men's Sunday meetings, 53; conversions 4; average daily attendance at rooms, 95; baths given, 152; letters written in the room 152; publications in reading room, 85.

48 paper holders and 12 magazine holders have been placed in the reading room and over $80 was expended, making it the finest association reading room in the state outside the Twin cities.

The bath-rooms are now in good shape and a man will have care of them so that baths can be given at any hour.

The physical work has been made more attractive by the addition of basket ball, tennis, shot, jumping standards, vaulting pole, etc.

The finances of the association are in good shape, $150.67 on the books to pay $118 bills against the association. It is thought enough of this can be collected to balance the books.

Shellfish as Purifiers of Water.
A use, novel to me, of pond snails by the Chinese silk growers is described in an official work which caught my eye by chance. This wait of malacological information is so certain to escape recorders that I transcribe the passage: "The water used for reeling silk is taken from mountain streams, as being the cleanest. The water from wells is never used, and if mountain water cannot be had, river water is taken, which is cleaned by putting a pint of live shellfish in one jar of water.
There is a special kind of shellfish, called the puro water shellfish, found everywhere in ponds, wells and creeks. They first of all sink to the bottom of the jar and then by degrees make their way up its sides, consuming gradually all impurities in the water within half a day or so.
After the clean water has been drawn from the jar the shellfish are cleaned and put to the same duty again."

A Convict Expression.

"We left our country for our country's good" is an expression first found in the prologue to a play presented by convicts in Sydney.
The prologue was by George Barrington, himself a convict, and the allusion was, it is said, keenly appreciated by the convict actors and the audience.

A Source of Wonderment.

She was a spinster from the country, came to the town to see the sights, and as she watched the hundreds of the opposite sex hurrying along the streets she stood lost in wonderment. "Well, well," she said at length, drawing a deep breath and gazing wistfully around, "to think there should be all these men in the world, and yet I can't get one them for a husband."—London

BRAINED. — MINN. SOTA.

in the New England states of this country, there is a superstition that bees will never do well if the people of the house quarrel about them.

Russia proposes to celebrate Jenner's discovery of vaccination, the 190th anniversary of which occurs on vaccination, by offering prizes for works on vaccination, and by publishing histories of vaccination in Russia and Western Europe.

One of the superstitions perpetuated from age to age among the common people, is that the human body weighs no more after a meal than before. If there were any foundation of fact in this idea and a human being could ever get fat.

The different races that come to this country are assimilated, but it is by no means certain that any other race could assimilate. The British dukes who are marrying Yankee girls will find their children talking the American language.

The total railway capital of the world is $200,000,000, of which Great Britain owns one-sixth. The total mileage of the world is 200,000 miles, employing 20,000 men and carrying annually 200,000,000 of passengers.

Great improvements have been recently made at the mouth of the River Vistula. The old branch into the Baltic has been straightened, and shortened from ten miles to four and a half, and the channel broadened by shifting a dike in the left bank, six miles further west.

Eclipses, both of the sun and moon, have been of great value in chronology. Thus, for instance, a great battle between the Medes and Lydians, during which a total eclipse of the sun occurred, is fixed by that fact as in the year 610 B. C.

"I'll Hang my Harp on a Willow Tree" has attached to it a bit of royal romance. It was written by a young nobleman who became enamored of Queen Victoria, a year or so before she ascended the English throne, which event destroyed his hopes of winning her hand.

Count Tolstoi is engaged on a new novel, in which the procedure and general characteristics of the Russian courts will be described and criticized. If the count will come to America and write a book on criminal procedure in this country, he will find subject matter for almost everything from hypnosis to lynch law and warranted to sell an immense edition.

Not long ago the czar abolished the count, and now he has issued a decree warning dukes that they will incur severe punishment, as will their subjects, if they do not encourage duels and seconds and those reform measures thus far have been sensible and conclusions.

Russia is pushing forward its great Siberian railway with remarkable energy, and the St. Petersburg papers are talking of a ship canal between the Baltic and Black seas as a settled fact. It seems that no idea in international improvements is too vast for the big northern empire.

One of the seven thrones made for the first Napoleon were brought over to be placed in a San Francisco museum. When this country fancies itself in Europe it is apt to buy it, whether a British duke or a royal out-fitter.

When the new Siberian railway is completed, which will be in six years, the journey around the world will be shortened by about twenty days. We shall have a new series of Nelly Rits and Elizabeth Blandings putting a girle round the world and writing names about it afterward.

The champion golf player of Scotland, J. M. Morrison, is seventy-four years old, and still winning laurels at the game. A septuagenarian athlete is something of a phenomenon and is a better advertisement for the game he plays than volumes of hygienic opinions could be.

The contract for building Rhode Island's new court house at Providence has been let for $1,575,000, or about the same amount as for New York to complete the $20,000,000 jail at Albany, which, when completed, will immediately need a similar appropriation or repairs.

The year of the French revolution calendar began September 22, 1792. It had twelve months of thirty days each and five days at the end, called the "Sansculottides." The months were divided into three equal decades. There was a four year period called a "Franchise" with a six days' feast at the end.

In some of the cantons of Switzerland all the dead, rich as well as poor, are buried at the same expense. The cost and all the other necessary articles are furnished on application to certain undertakers designated by the government. Everything connected with the interment is absolutely gratuitous, including the grave and the religious services. All classes avail themselves freely of the law.

De Lesseps left to the world a magnificent success, a colossal failure, and a proverb to the effect that "great engineers make great mistakes, little engineers make little mistakes." In view of the fact that the estimated cost of the Nicaragua canal takes an upward jump every time a party of engineers goes over the route, it is well to consider all the preliminaries with the extreme caution.

The Harvard astronomers who have their telescopes on the mountains of Peru trained on the mountains are inclined to think from recent observations that there is water on our satellite after all. Patches of variable darkness in the moon's craters and around its crevasses are well defined, and the presence of water at the bottom of the craters is inferred. The so-called Sea of Tranquility is entirely covered with patches that undergo these alterations all play visible. Larger less than any now in use will soon be in use, and the "ancient elder in the sky" may prove to be worthy of a better name.

BULLETS FOR PUGS.

GOV. CLARKE DETERMINED TO STOP THAT FIGHT.

He Will Hold a Conference With the Brigadier General of the State to Discuss the Idea of Suppressing the Pugs by the Use of Guns.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 16.—Gov. Clarke today furnished evidence of his determination to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Hot Springs or in Arkansas. A telegram was sent by the governor to the brigadier general of the Arkansas state militia, summoning him to a conference immediately. The meaning of the conference is that the governor desired to acquaint himself with the available strength of the state militia so that he may act knowingly if the militia is to be called out.

TOO MUCH GAS.
A Brainerd Man Makes Things Lively at the Pauly House.
J. H. McKeig, a muscular man from Brainerd, created an intense amount of excitement at the Pauly House and Bridge Square about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. People who happened to be in the vicinity thought a combination of Sioux Indians had broken loose somewhere and were on the war-path. When McKeig came down from his room yesterday morning the clerk noticed that he looked strange and was saturated with a certain odor, perhaps Gas. A bell boy was sent up to the room and the same odor was found, much stronger. In the meantime McKeig had begun to make things interesting. He made a lunge with his fist and smacked went a plate glass window in the street office door. He rushed to the street and tore off his coat and vest, throwing them to the ground and breaking a handsome gold watch. People began to think it was time to interfere, as McKeig was bleeding profusely where he had cut his hand breaking the glass. He thought so, too, and started for the crowd foot-ball fashion, and scattered them right and left. McKeig was then given a wide berth until Inspector Joe Lawrence came along and he and McKeig had it out after the most improved fashion. With the aid of Capt. Hein the big inspector finally landed McKeig in the lockup, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Monilton, after which he was released. McKeig is on his way to the Indian school at Pierre, with his five children. He is the proprietor of a saloon at Brainerd and is well known to a number of people in this city. Last night he was as well as ever, with the exception of the pain caused by the cut in his hand. The physician's opinion is that the condition being almost identical to that in delirium tremens.—Minneapolis Times.
A Grand Success.
The concert given by Miss Rebecca McKenzie, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Society, at the opera house last Saturday evening, was indeed a grand concert, and an unequalled success in every respect. The audience was of a size most creditable and possessed of a high degree of enthusiasm and appreciation. Encores were evidently a special order of the evening, for scarcely a number escaped that very pleasing reception. The audience was highly representative, embracing most of the leading musicians and patrons of music in the city. Of course, Miss McKenzie's reception was of a nature to excite and her rich, pure voice was never heard to better advantage, and her rendition of the cavatina from "Der Freischuetz," fairly brought down the house. Miss McKenzie completely won the hearts of the audience by the remarkable manner in which she coaxed sweet strains from her violin. Charming, gowned, modest in manner, and to an unusually high degree mistress of that popular instrument, her reception last Saturday evening was surely an index of future and greater triumphs. It would be difficult to say which was Miss Fellows' most pleasing number, as all were rendered with remarkable feeling and technique, and she won deserved encores at the end of each number. Miss O'Reilly created a most favorable impression. She is a very accomplished pianist, and her work displays careful training combined with a touch and depth of feeling that stamp her as a most promising performer.
The members of St. Andrew's Society, deserve much praise for furnishing the music-loving people of Brainerd such a rare treat.
An Unkind Uncle.
One of the freight conductors on the Northern Pacific tells of a very despicable action on the part of one of our citizens. He states that on last Thursday evening as his train was running between this place and Staples, he discovered a small boy about ten years of age, in a badly crippled condition on the rear platform of the caboose. The boy's story, told to the conductor, was that his name was Dunn, and his parents lived somewhere in the vicinity of Brainerd and he had been sent by his mother, who was very sick, to his uncle named Lynch, who lives in Little Falls, to be cared for until she got better. The uncle would not accept the charge and took the boy and put him on the platform of the caboose without any money to pay his railroad fare or buy him anything to eat. The boy was so badly crippled that he was compelled to walk with crutches, and could not even get into the caboose. He had ridden some distance before he was discovered, and as the night was quite cold he was badly chilled. The unfortunate boy was cared for by the train crew and his fare paid by the conductor from Staples to his destination.—Little Falls Transcript.

The remains of Miss Elna Caron were brought to this city from Minneapolis on Monday, the young lady having died in that city on Sunday. Den Sully.
This popular Irish comedian will appear in Brainerd next Tuesday evening, Oct. 22nd, at Sleeper opera house in "A Social Lion." Mr. Sully is one of the best comedians on the stage. Concerning his presentation of "A Social Lion" the St. Paul Globe of the 7th inst., says:
"Dan! Sully vastly amused the large audience that assembled at the Grand opera house last night to witness his new comedy entitled 'A Social Lion.' Mr. Sully, like good wine, improves in quality with each succeeding year. He mellowed, as it were."
"A Social Lion" is a simple, unpretentious comedy not requiring a phenomenal cast to interpret it, and perhaps that is why it scored such a pronounced hit. Mr. Sully and his associate comedian, Dan Mason, the Tontonic impersonator, succeeded in keeping their hearers in an incessant state of laughter, while they were on the stage. The dialogue of "A Social Lion" is not superlatively witty by any means, but the laughs are just as loud and uproarious, for Mr. Sully has a quiet and unctuous manner of delivering them that proves quite irresistible.
"A Social Lion" depends for its entertaining qualities upon that rare, but ever-fertile source of fun, a case of mistaken identity. Mr. Sully, whose real character is the farce that of Cornelius Slatery, a retired railroad contractor, assumes the role of an eccentric scientist, known as Prof. Barbeaux. He impersonates the professor long enough to mix things generally and lead to complicated and laughable predicaments. Love affairs are disarranged, engagements made and broken, and people are set by the ears in the most ridiculous fashion.
A few cleverly executed specialties are introduced, mostly in the last act. The distinct feature in this line was the singing of Miss Kate Michelson, an attractive young woman who possesses an uncommonly pure and rich soprano voice. Miss Michelson is entitled to the warmest praise for her delightful interpretation of "The Last Rose of Summer."

BRANDED, - MINN:ISOTA.

In the New England states of this country, there is a superstition that have will never do well if the people of the home quarrel about them.

Russia proposes to celebrate Jenner's discovery of vaccination, the 100th anniversary of which occurs next year, by offering prizes for works on vaccination, and by publishing histories of vaccination in Russia and Western Europe.

One of the superstitious perpetrators from age to age among the common people, is, that the human body weighs no more after a meal than before. If there were any foundation of fact in this idea no human being could ever get fat.

The different races that come to this country are assimilated, but it is by no means certain that any other race can assimilate Americans. The British dukes who are marrying Yankee girls will find their children talking the American language.

The total railway capital of the world is $300,000,000, of which Great Britain owns one-sixth. The influence of the world is 100,000, and of the British Empire was 70,000, employing 400,000 men and carrying annually 500,000,000 of passengers.

Great improvements have been recently made at the mouth of the River Vistula. The old branch into the Baltic has been strengthened, and shortening from ten miles to four and a half, and the channel broadened by shifting a pile in the left bank six miles further west.

Eclipses, both of the sun and moon, have been of great value in chronology. Thus, for instance, a great battle between the Medes and Lydians, during which a total eclipse of the sun occurred, is fixed by that fact as in the year 610 B. C.

"I'll Hang my Harp on a Willow Tree" has attached to it a bit of royal romance. It was written by a young nobleman who became emperor of Queen Victoria, a year or so before she ascended the English throne, which event destroyed his hopes of winning her hand.

Count Tolstol is engaged on a new novel, in which the procedure and general characteristics of the Russian courts will be described and criticized. If the count will come to America and write a book on criminal practice in this country he will find a subject for touching on almost everything from hypnotism to lynching and warranted to sell an immense edition.

Not long ago the czar abolished the knout, and now he has issued a decree warning duellists that they will incur severe punishment, as will also their seconds and those who encourage dueling. The young czar has not done much yet, but his reform measures thus far have been sensible and consistent.

Russia is pushing forward its Siberian railway with remarkable energy, and the St. Petersburg papers are talking of a ship canal between the Baltic and Black seas as a settled fact. It seems that no idea in internal improvements is too vast for the big northern empire.

One of the seven thunders made for the first Napoleon has been brought over to be placed in a San Francisco museum. When this ship is taken to anything in Europe it is apt to say it, whether a British duke or a royal out.

When the new Siberian railway is completed, which will be in six years, the journey around the world will be shortened by about twenty days. No fly, we shall have a new set of Nelly Blays and Elizabeths. Islands putting a mile round the earth and writing teams about it afterward.

The champion golf player of Scotland, "Tom" Morris, is seventy-four years old, and still winning laurels at the game. A septuagenarian and it is something of a phenomenon for the game he plays than volumes of hygienic opinions could be.

The contract for building Rhode Island's new capital at Providence has been let for $1,576,000, or about the same amount asked for in New York to complete the $2,000,000 folly at Albany, which, when completed, will undoubtedly need a similar appropriation for repairs.

The year of the French revolutionary calendar began September 22, 1792. It had twelve months of thirty days each and five days at the end, called the "Sansculottides." The months were divided into three equal decades. There was a four year period called a "Franchise," with a six days' feast at the end.

In some of the cantons of Switzerland all the dead, rich as well as poor, are buried at the public expense. Coffins and all the other necessary articles are furnished on application to certain undertakers designated by the government. Everything connected with the interment is absolutely gratuitous, including the services of the religious societies. All classes pay themselves freely of the law.

Do Lessops left to the world a magnificent sonnet to the goddess of a proverb to the effect that "great engineers make great mistakes, little engineers make little mistakes." In view of the fact that the estimated cost of the Nicaragua canal takes an upward jump every time a party of engineers go over the route, it is well to consider all the preliminaries with the extreme caution.

The Harvard astronomers who have their telescopes on the mountains of Peru trained on the moon are inclined to think from recent observations that there is water on our satellite after all. Patches of variable darkness in the moon's craters and around its crevasses are well defined, and the presence of water at the bottom of the craters is inferred. The so-called Sea of Tranquility is entirely covered with patches that undergo these alterations all plainly visible. Larger less than any now in use will soon be in use, and the "ancient elder in the sky" may prove to be worthy of a better name.

TOO MUCH GAS.

A Brainerd Man Makes Things Lively at the Pauly House.

J. H. McKeig, a muscular man from Brainerd, created an intense amount of excitement at the Pauly House and Bridge Square about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. People who happened to be in the vicinity thought a combination of Sioux Indians had broken loose somewhere and were on the war-path. When McKeig came down from his room yesterday morning the clerk noticed that he looked strange and was saturated with a certain odor, perhaps gas. A bell boy was sent up to the room and the same odor was found, much stronger. In the meantime McKeig had begun to make things interesting. He made a lunge with his fist and smash went a plate glass window in the hotel office door. He rushed to the street and tore off his coat and vest, throwing them to the ground and breaking a handsome gold watch. People began to think it was time to interfere, as McKeig was bleeding profusely where he had cut his hand breaking the glass. He thought so, too, and started for the crowd football fashion, and scattered them right and left. McKeig was then given a wide berth until Inspector Joe Lawrence came along and he and McKeig had it out after the most improved fashion. With the aid of Capt. Hein the big inspector finally landed McKeig in the lockup, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Monilton, after which he was released. McKeig is on his way to the Indian school at Pierre, with his five children. He is the proprietor of a saloon at Brainerd and is well known to a number of people in this city. Last night he was as well as ever, with the exception of the pain caused by the cut in his hand. The physician's opinion is that he was crazed by the gas, the mental condition being almost identical to that in delirium tremens--Minneapolis Times.

A Grand Success.

The concert given by Miss Rebecca McKenzie, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Society, at the opera house last Saturday evening, was indeed a grand success, and an unequalled success in every respect. The audience was of a size most creditable and possessed of a high degree of enthusiasm and appreciation. Ecstasies were evidently a special order of the evening, for scarcely a number escaped that very pleasing reception. The audience was highly representative, embracing most of the leading musicians and patrons of music in the city. Of course, Miss McKenzie's reception amounted to an ovation, and her rich, pure voice was never heard to better advantage, and her rendition of the cavatina from "Der Freischutz," fairly brought down the house. Miss Fellows completely won the hearts of the audience by the remarkable manner in which she coaxed sweet strains from her violin. Charming, modest in manner, and to an unusually high degree mistress of that popular instrument, her reception last Saturday evening was surely an index of future and greater triumphs. It would be difficult to say which was Miss Fellows' most pleasing number, as all were rendered with remarkable feeling and technique, and she won deserved encores at the end of each number. Miss O'Reilly created a most favorable impression. She is a very accomplished pianist, and her work displays careful training combined with a touch and depth of feeling that stamp her as a most promising performer.

An Unkind Uncle.

One of the freight conductors on the Northern Pacific tells of a very despicable action on the part of one of our citizens. He states that on last Thursday evening as his train was running between this place and Staples, he discovered a small boy about ten years of age, in a badly crippled condition on the rear platform of the caboose. The boy's story, told to the conductor, was that his name was Dunn, and his parents lived somewhere in the vicinity of Brainerd and he had been sent by his mother, who was very sick, to his uncle named Lynch, who lives in Little Falls, to be cared for until she got better. The uncle would not accept the charge and took the boy and put him on the platform of the caboose without any money to pay his railroad fare or buy him anything to eat. The boy was so badly crippled that he was compelled to walk with crutches, and could not even get into the caboose. He had ridden some distance before he was discovered, and as the night was quite cold he was badly chilled. The unfortunate boy was cared for by the train crew and his fare paid by the conductor from Staples to his destination--Little Falls Transcript.

DIED.

The remains of Miss Elnora Caron were brought to this city from Minneapolis on Monday, the young lady having died in that city on Sunday. The funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church on Tuesday morning, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating. Deceased was a sister of O. Caron, the Laurel street barber.

Dan Sully.

This popular Irish comedian will appear in Brainerd next Tuesday evening, Oct. 22nd, at Sleeper opera house in "A Social Lion." Mr. Sully is one of the best comedians on the stage. Concerning his presentation of "A Social Lion" the St. Paul Globe of the 7th inst., says:

Dan Sully vastly amused the large audience that assembled at the Grand opera house last night to witness his new comedy entitled "A Social Lion." Mr. Sully, like good wine, improves in quality with each succeeding year. He mellowed, as it were.

"A Social Lion" is a simple, unpretentious comedy not requiring a phenomenal cast to interpret it, and perhaps that is why it scored such a pronounced hit. Mr. Sully and his associate comedian, Dan Mason, the Teutonic impersonator, succeeded in keeping their hearers in an incessant state of laughter, while they were on the stage. The dialogue of "A Social Lion" is not superlatively witty by any means, but the laughs are just as loud and uproarious, for Mr. Sully has a quiet and unobtrusive manner of delivering them that proves quite irresistible.

"A Social Lion" depends for its entertainment qualities upon that rare, but ever fruitful source of fun, a case of mistaken identity. Mr. Sully, whose real character is the farce of that Cornelius Slattery, a retired railroad contractor, assumes the role of an eccentric scientist, known as Prof. Barbeau. He impersonates the professor long enough to mix things generally and lead to complicated and laughable predicaments. Love affairs are disarranged, engagements made and broken, and people are set by the ears in the most ridiculous fashion.

A few cleverly executed specialties are introduced, mostly in the last act. The distinct feature in this line was the singing of Miss Kate Michelen, an attractive young woman who possesses an uncommonly pure and rich soprano voice. Miss Michelen is entitled to the warmest praise for her delightful interpretation of "The Last Rose of Summer."
